Hi Christy,

Thank you for scheduling the interview. I wanted to provide two additional pieces of information/evidence that I think is beneficial and I have attached them here. The attached are pictures of my neck immediately following my massage. Initially I believed these bruises/burns were caused by the cupping I mentioned. However, after much thought and research into cupping marks I believe these marks were caused by the cervical adjustment / pulling my neck with a towel. The cupping marks that could be seen on my back were circular in shape which is normal and what I would expect. However, the neck marks closely resemble friction / rug burn consistent with trauma to my neck. Looking forward to discussing this further.

Best,
Genna
